Estonia | Week 14 | Month 4
December 4th - December 10th, 2023

New observations this week: 4
Main channel: Facebook

Main keywords:

Russophobia, debt, taxes, poverty, ukraine, military aid

Main narratives:

- Estonia wants to remove the Russian presence from the country to satisfy the West.
- Taxes are being raised for the poor instead of the wealthy being taxed more.
- The aid that the Estonian government is giving to Ukraine makes it more difficult for the Estonian public to survive because of the economic downturn.

Overview:

This week there were many posts about the detention of the editor Hantsom and how this was a demand from the West in order to achieve its anti-Russian ways. There were also many posts about the amount of debt the Estonian people are in and how the government is weaponizing Christmas in order to remind people to pay their debts. Finally, many posted about Kai Kallas and her government raising the taxes for those in lower economic class instead of the wealthy and the Estonian government's agreement to provide Ukraine with more aid and how this will affect the Estonian public and will not help with the economic crisis.
