Tucker Carlson, Biden and Putin

Estonia | Week 22 | Month 5
January 29th - February 4st, 2024

New observations this week: 4
Main channel: Facebook

Main keywords:

poverty, Biden, Russia, USSR, Ukraine,
economy, government, officials

Main narratives:

- The Estonian government is causing the poverty levels in Estonia to rise.
- If Tucker Carlson interviewed President Biden, he would be unable to give accurate and timely responses or even be able to understand the questions.
- Half the countries in the world owe Russia for their existence.
- The Estonian economy is suffering because of the large number of public officials.

Overview:

This week there were many more posts about the Estonian economy and the government being the one causing it because of the way they spend. This week the poverty was blamed on the many officials in the Estonian government. There were several posts about Tucker Carlson's interview with Putin, one in which the poster wondered how an interview with President Biden would have gone, claiming that he would not even be able to understand the questions, much less answer them. There was also a post listing the countries that owe their existence to Russia, which did not follow historical fact, and the poster stated that half of the world owes their existence to Russia and if the Russian government had ideas that were more similar to the west that many countries would join a Russian society of nations.
